

THE Daily Mirror.

J. BURGESS, Business Manager
A. C. HOLLAND, Editor
F. M. ARMSTRONG, City Editor

ADVERTISING RATES FURNISHED ON APPLICATION.

This paper receives the Scripps-McRae Telegraphic News Service and Market Reports.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Single Copy 2c
For Week by Carrier 10c
By Mail, per Year $4.00
Semi-Weekly Mirror, per year $1.00

Both Phones No. 9

WEATHER—Scattered thunder showers late tonight or Tuesday.

Secretary Taft is going to Yale, but that is not where Foraker would like to send him.

It is to be hoped that the "unwritten law" will not be extended to include somnambulism.

The next edition of "Wild Animals I Have Known" by Ernest Seton Thompson, will doubtless include the president.

A Memphis woman has sued the same man for divorce five times. He will be getting tired of paying for that kind of amusement for her.

You have probably noticed that every tail-end baseball club wins games by splendid playing and loses on account of hard luck.

The ice cream soda crop should not be omitted from the list of failures for which eccentric climate is held responsible.

In Kansas City, a Mr. Singer married a Miss Nightingale but none of the newspapers referred to their home as a "cozy little nest."

Judge Harmon announces that he is a Democrat without qualification. Judge Harmon is a favorite in the betting as to who is Colonel Winterson's dark horse.

Finland's first trouble with the nineteen women in her legislature will come when some mere man gets up and moves that debate on a question be closed.

Premier Franco of Portugal may quit because of the demonstrations against him. Japan is trying the same thing with 'Frisco but it will not work.

A few weeks ago, men were committing suicide because the weather was cold. It will not be long now until they begin shuffling off because of the heat.

A Sandusky youth who was watching a ball game had his jaw broken by a foul ball. Another argument in favor of seeing a game through a knot hole.

"General Funston speaks of the 'unwhipped mob' in San Francisco. Uncle Sam might with propriety inquire of his soldiers 'What do I feed you for?'"

Some enterprising Yankee should not overlook the present opportunity for organizing a company to write insurance against kidnapping.

A Texas judge has ruled that a common table fork is not a deadly weapon. Possibly it will now be easier to induce the Texans to make more general use of it.

Senator Dick says the entire Ohio National Guard will be needed at the dedication of the McKinley memorial. That ought to help some on election day.

Lightning fired a number of Standard Oil tanks, yesterday. It is now a question whether Rockefeller will cut down on his philanthropy or boost the price of oil.

July Issues Of

Munsey
Red Book
and
Ladies Home Journal

C. G. Wiant

BOOKSELLER AND STATIONER.
The House of Post Cards.

A Zanesville woman threw herself in the river in an effort to drown herself. She might have known she would not sink in the Muskingum just after a rain.

Booker T. Washington has secured a summer home within three miles of the Roosevelt home on Sagamore Hill, but he will need sharp ears to hear the dinner bell at this distance.

During the President's visit to Lansing, Michigan, the mayor prohibited the sale of peanuts. Perhaps he didn't want people to get the impression that an entire circus was coming to town.

The introduction of electric cars into Shanghai, China, may result in a bitter fight with rioting. Tom Johnson and all of the people of Cleveland should appreciate the situation.

"King Edward recently appeared at the races, dressed in brown derby, gray suit, pink shirt and bright blue necktie and tan shoes" says a contemporary. And yet some people have the nerve to refer to the president of the United States as a "kaleidoscope individual."

According to the census figures, there are 4,833,630 bread winners among the women of this country. If there were that many good bread makers among them, there would be a falling off in the demand for dyspepsia tablets.

In addition to having measles, mumps, whooping cough, chicken-pox, scarlet fever, etc., young America must now stand his chances of being kidnapped and murdered. At the present rate it will not be long until we will be denied the pleasure of enjoying the children their pleasures and of reflecting upon the days when we were free and light hearted.

DONE IN HIS SLEEP

Italian Who Shot up a Train Says He was in Somnambulist State

Goodland, Kan., June 24.—John Bello, the Italian who killed a man and wounded two women passengers on a Rock Island train east of here Saturday night, told through an interpreter the story of the shooting. Bello asserted that he committed the murder in his sleep as the result of a dream. His story follows:

"My wife and children and Patsy Leganbradi and his wife and children lived in Genoa. We decided to come to the new world and grow rich, as we heard it was easy to do. We landed in Boston a few days ago and took a train for the West.

"We were in a strange land among people whose language I could not understand. I had been nervous from the time I left home. Last night, I went to sleep in my seat, and had a terrible dream. I dreamed that a man with a white handkerchief over his face had me by the throat and was trying to rob me.

"I fought with all my strength. Finally I managed to throw my assailant off. The robber turned to run, I had a revolver in my pocket and I seized it and began to shoot.

"All of this was in my sleep. The report of the weapon awakened me and I found myself on my feet with the pistol in my hand, shooting right and left. God knows I did not mean to kill anyone. It was all a terrible dream."

Carl V. Topp, the tailor, who was killed by the Italian, was asleep in his seat with a white handkerchief over his face.

Bello is in the county jail here. He sits rocking to and fro with his face in his hands, muttering in Italian.

MAD DOG BITES

A DOZEN PERSONS

Akron, O., June 24.—A mad dog attacked and bit nearly a dozen people last night, some of them badly.

The police received in quick succession reports of C. Ritzman, James Lavery, a contractor; Eully Wagner and others being hurt, and later Ed. Long, blacksmith helper, appeared at headquarters with his trousers torn into threads and his leg lacerated.

Dr. J. L. Shirey also cared for two victims. The dog is still at large.

The salve that acts like a poultice is Pine Salve Carbollized. No other salve so good for cuts, burns, boils and chapped skin. Ask about it. Price 25 cts.

Sold by Flocken Drug Store.

MARION ODD FELLOWS HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICES

Sunday Afternoon in the Halls of Kosciusko Lodge No. 58—Annual Memorial Address is Delivered by Harry N. Quigley While James H. Eymon Pays Tribute to the Deceased Members of the Rebekah Lodges—The Services are Largely Attended.

The annual memorial service of the local I. O. O. F. and Rebekah lodges was held in the hall of Kosciusko Lodge, No. 58, on North Main street, Sunday afternoon. About 200 people were in attendance and heard a program of unusual interest. The exercises began at 2 o'clock and lasted until after 3:30.

The principal speakers of the afternoon were Harry N. Quigley, who gave the memorial address for the deceased members of the I. O. O. F. lodges, and James H. Eymon, who spoke in memory of the departed Rebekahs. Both addresses were fitting tributes to those in whose memory they were given.

George E. Lawrence was the presiding officer, giving a few appropriate remarks both in opening and closing the ceremonies. The first number was a selection by a male quartet composed of J. V. Wilson, T. J. Mills, J. W. Jacoby and H. S. Martin, followed with a duet by Samuel Coler and George Gray.

For Kosciusko lodge the roster of the dead was read by W. C. Lavelle, for Wayside lodge, No. 864, by George Hageman, and for the Rebekah lodges, by Mrs. Frank Hunter. A list of the dead follows:

Kosciusko Lodge—George F. Gooding, Henry Pierson, Robert F. Gray, Hiram C. Randle, H. D. Ayres, John Vanning, David S. Lindsay, D. D. Odaffer, William Cummings, Christian Martin, William Hedges, J. M. C. Henderson, Jacob Kise, William Saries, John Barnhart, Milton Piskey, William H. Carmine, James C. Walters, John Merrill, John Uhl, William B. Farum, Henry Cope, Michael Dutt, David Jameson, William H. Silverthorn, John Bowen, John Naylor, George Schertzer, John E. Davids, Joseph Ullom, Daniel B. Krause, John Hulsom, Charles F. Mayer, Hugh B. Petty, Weaver A. Turney, Henry T. Van Fleet, Julius Strelitz, William H. Keefer, Jacob R. Neff, John Evans, Philip Cope, Sylvester Aurin, Fremont Steinfield, William H. Parkinson, William H. Eckhart, Andrew Herrick, George F. Hecker, John Kishler, D. M. Earnest, Nathan Metzgar, William Irvin, James P. Gray, William H. Aekerman, Shaw Stewart, Oscar Travis, W. B. Foye, T. J. Magruder, Henry Lanus, S. T. Beerbower, John H. Thomas, W. H. Mohr, D. L. Weeks, W. B. Thomas, J. B. Hair, John C. Walters, J. P. Haberman, C. Haberman, Adam Free, A. Schmeltzer, C. Lenseumayer, W. S. Bowers, Robert Edwards, Columbus Lodge, No. 9, Thomas H. Carson, Day Lodge, No. 328, LaRue; J. W. Stemm, Wyandott Lodge, No. 110; A. Andrews, Agosta Lodge; J. A. Mouser, Day Lodge, No. 328; John Wilson, Green Castle, Indiana; A. Philbrooks, Delaware; Nathan Mus-

"We believe that we fulfill one of the highest purposes of our fraternity in thus reverently assembling to meditate upon the transitory nature of the things of earth, to commune with those of our number who have reached the brow of the hill of life, and with faces radiant with the light of eternal day, have waved us a last long farewell and faded from our sight in the glory of departing day and have passed on and entered within the confines of that far country, whither or we, who remain, are patiently hopefully journeying.

"As brother Odd Fellows, this is to us and to the friends and relatives of our departed brothers, an hour filled with deepest meaning, and, laying aside the passions and prejudices of our daily lives, the trials and temptations that constantly war against our better part we come to pay a humble tribute of love and affection to those who sleep. Here we come as to an altar, reared in sacred memory of our loved and lost, to renew our covenant to the principles and tenets of our order.

A NEW PICTURE OF H. H. ROGERS.

It is the habit of the American people to consider John D. Rockefeller the head and front of the Standard Oil monopoly, but H. H. Rogers, it is understood, is the real power now active in the management of the enormous trust. This is a new picture of Mr. Rogers. He is vice president of the Standard Oil company, Fairhaven, Mass., like Mr. Rogers more than the general reading public likes him, because that is his native town, and he has presented to it many gifts, such as a town hall, a public library and a school building.

"Our meeting is one rich in sacred memories, hallowed by the tender recollections that cluster about the thought of those who were so closely bound to us in the cordial relationship of friend and brother, who lived faithful to the lofty principles, friendship, love and truth, which we as members of the order espouse, and who have passed on in serene contemplation to the future.

"With what an eloquence of pathos are we at this hour reminded of those who have finished the course, whose life work is ended, from whose tired shoulders the cross has been tenderly lifted, as we recall those who have gone on to the last encampment where lie spread 'neath sunny skies the snowy tents in the land of eternal peace.

"But yesterday, it seems, they were with us in the joyous glow of health and happiness, gave us the heavy grasp of the hand, as brothers, wrought with us loyally and well in the noble aims and purposes of our order, shared with us our joys and sorrows, and departing, left upon our hearts of hearts, the impress of their devoted sympathy. And, alas, but yesterday, it seems, we followed to the last earthly resting place, the pulseless clay of these we loved—and now to memory fondly dear, and with hearts full laden with grief, lovingly laid above their remains the tokens of our love, then, in sorrow stricken accents, pronounced in benediction, 'Rest in peace.'

In the course of his address, Mr. Quigley dwelled upon historical facts and persons, telling of the deeds which men have done to make themselves immortal.

In his address to the Rebekahs, Mr. Eymon opened by giving a brief history of the Rebekah degree telling of how it was created as a side issue of the I. O. O. F., and how, little more than a decade ago, it was recognized as one of the degrees of the order. A part of Mr. Eymon's address follows:

"The responsibilities of the Rebekahs are to visit the sick, relieve those in distress, bury the dead, and care for and educate the orphan. Not only have you made a resolve to perform these duties, but you have shown a determination to 'be in the true spirit of our order and of religion itself, quietly and peacefully, like the dropping of the gentle rain, like the distillation of the silent dew on the parched herbage and the dropping flower, and according to the admonition of the bible, 'Let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth.'

In Westminster Abbey, London, there is a plain, unpretentious monument, on which is carved this simple inscription, 'Love, Serve.' While all around it are the tombs of the most noted of England's kings, queens, statesmen, diplomats and scholars for several centuries of her history, yet no tombs is visited by so many persons, moistened by such a wealth of tears, or held in so great reverence, as the one upon which is carved that simple inscription. After that granite monument shall have crumbled into dust the name of the Earl of Shaftesbury will be revered, and his memory to be an ever-present inspiration to men to love and serve their fellow men; for it was this great English philanthropist who gave his life and fortune to the work of relieving the distress and bearing the burdens of others, and who toiled ceaselessly for the betterment of his countrymen.

"When the shadows had settled down on Gethsemane on that darkest of all its nights, and Calvary wept at the world's tragedy, that was to be enacted on its summit on the morrow, the Savior of the world, in that little upper room, alone with his eleven faithful disciples, his heart already bleeding for the world of selfishness, of which he had seen so much and which he then saw sweeping out into the centuries yet unborn, said, 'A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye love one another; and there in the shadow of the cross, Christ gave to men that new commandment, and with it, fraternity and brotherhood were conceived.'

"Every candidate, previous to being received within the walls of a lodge of Odd Fellows, is required among other things, to declare that he or she is prompted to solicit the privileges of Odd Fellowship by a sincere wish of being serviceable to his or her fellow creatures; and our order teaches that the sum of the added values of life may be expressed in three two words, 'Love and service,' and that the reward of such a life spent in the love and service of others will be the welcome words, 'Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord.'

Ernest Carl sang two selections, and following the close of services at the hall, the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs marched to the cemetery, where the graves were decorated and closing remarks were delivered by Rev. L. C. Reed, pastor of the United Brethren church.

CHILDREN'S DAY OBSERVED

Sunday in Several Local Churches.

PROGRAMS RENDERED

By the Members of Sunday School.

"Echo" Convention is Held at Calvary Evangelical Church by Missionary Society.

A large audience attended the annual Children's day exercises at the Free Baptist church, Sunday morning, the church being occupied to its seating capacity.

The program opened with an organ voluntary by Miss Grace Durfee, during which the primary department marched by classes from their apartments in the basement of the church. After devotional exercises led by the pastor, Rev. George Barnard, Miss Iva Coil rendered a pleasing vocal solo.

The program by the little folks began with a welcome exercise given by seven children. They were, Helen Keeler, Ben Patten, Lucille Chenoweth, Mary Landon, Kathryn Able, John Long and Mary Ellen Cass. A recitation, "God Wants Us To Be Glad" by Geneva McMurray, was an interesting selection. Mrs. J. A. Mitchell's class gave an exhibition catechism drill.

Little Miss Kathryn Able gave a pleasing recitation, "Jesus and the Children," after which a group of four boys gave an interesting class exercise. The participants were William Fout, Harwood Taylor, Warren Bull and James Uline. After a song by the school, Clyde Keeler gave a recitation entitled, "The Child and the Sunday School."

Dell Rice, Harry Smith, Edith Keeler and Marie Chenoweth gave a class exercise entitled "An Object Lesson From the Bible." A number of very pleasing nature was the recitation "Our Father's Care" by Master Edward Taylor, as was also the recitation of Miss Edith Keeler, entitled "The Sea." A class exercise, "What the Flowers Say" was given by Helen Hare, Reba Bolander, Marie Drake and Ruth Unapher.

"Omission" was the subject of an exceptionally fine recitation by Miss Minnie Bowland. Following a song by the school, DeWitt Shadaker gave a recitation, "The Prayer Angel." The program closed with responsive readings by the class of Miss Maude Luce.

The church was prettily decorated for the occasion with palms, ferns and cut flowers. The exercises were in charge of Miss Anna Fite.

An "Echo" convention was held last night at the Calvary Evangelical church by the Woman's Missionary Society. The general program of the missionary convention was rehearsed at the meeting and the work planned for the year was outlined. Mrs. John Klinefelter, Mrs. Perry Harrell and Mrs. C. W. Hensel, and Mrs. J. H. Diehl, Miss Sarah Myers and Miss Clara Klinefelter, delegates and visitors to the convention, told of the work accomplished.

A quartette composed of Mrs. Elizabeth Fox, Mrs. W. E. Stull, Mr. W. E. Stull and Mr. R. F. Stull, rendered a number of selections.

The choir and members of the Sunday School of the Emmanuel Missionary church, held their annual Missionary and Children's Day exercises, Sunday evening. A large congregation was present, filling practically every bit of space in the church. The program consisted of songs, recitations and exercises. Among the first numbers were violin selections by Homer Wadell and Frank Philbrick.

The program was in charge of A. F. Philbrick, superintendent of the Sunday School and the pastor, Rev. E. F. W. Stethorn.

Tetter Cured.

A lady customer of ours had suffered with tetter for two or three years. It got so bad on her hands that she could not attend to her household duties. One box of Chamberlain's Salve cured her. Chamberlain's medicines gave splendid satisfaction in this community.—M. H. Rodney & Co., Almond, Ala. Chamberlain's medicines are for sale by all druggists.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of J. C. Atkinson

Your Wall Paper Opportunity is now

Room lots of high grade wall paper complete with side wall, ceiling and border worth up to $10 and $12 per room. Your choice now $1.98.

This is not old out of date stock but absolutely new clean stock from the best well known makes.

It's a clean up of all our high grade papers. It will pay you to buy now for your future need.

McCLAINS

IN PLAIN ENGLISH

General Funston in Terse Terms Refuses to Parade His Troops in 'Frisco

San Francisco, June 21.—Gen. Fred.rick L. Funston admitted last night that in his letter to the Fourth of July committee of this city, he used the expression "unwhipped mob," but that it was not directed against any set of men except what he terms the "uncontrollable element."

It developed today that in reply to the committee's invitation to the government troops to participate in the proposed parade, General Funston said that inasmuch as the men will leave on July 5, to go into camp, he did not desire to have them do much marching the day previous. General Funston is quoted as saying:

"But I would be loath to have the troops parade if they were to be sneered at and jeered at by an unwhipped mob."

When asked for a statement over the telephone General Funston, who was at Monterey, replied: "My letter is written in plain English, and anyone who understands plain English can understand the letter."

When pressed further as to whom he referred to as "unwhipped mob," Gen. Funston said that he meant the uncontrollable element.

Gently moves the bowels and at the same time stops the cough. Bee's Laxative Cough Syrup. Contains Honey and Tar. No opiates. Best for Coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Satisfaction guaranteed. Children like it. Mothers adore it. Sold by Flocken Drug Store.

REMEMBER

We move and store your goods and do all kinds of transfer work. Phone 155.

PEOPLES TRANSFER CO

Bank Statement.

Report of the condition of the "Marion Savings Bank Co." at Marion, in the State of Ohio, at the commencement of business on the 18th day of June, 1907.

| RESOURCES. | |
|--------------------------------------|--------------|
| Loans on real estate | $ 62,268 75 |
| All other loans and discounts | 92,477 28 |
| Overdrafts | 5,555 68 |
| Due from other banks and bankers | 9,384 28 |
| Furniture and fixtures | 6,990 89 |
| Current expenses | 3,447 44 |
| Prepayments on bonds, ins. and taxes | 404 81 |
| Cash items | 370 27 |
| Gold and silver coin | 3,579 94 |
| National bank notes | 4,000 00 |
| United States notes | 4,082 00 |
| Total | $192,532 44 |

LIABILITIES.

| | |
|--------------------------|--------------|
| Capital stock paid in | $ 29,800 00 |
| Surplus fund | 3,219 94 |
| Undivided profits | 1,797 12 |
| Individual deposits | 154,468 85 |
| Due to banks and bankers | 252 50 |
| Total | $192,532 44 |

I, B. F. Waples, cashier of "The Marion Savings Bank Co.," do solemnly swear that the above statement is true, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

B. F. WAPLES, Cashier.
State of Ohio, County of Marion.
Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 21st day of June, 1907.
HOKE DONIHEN,
Notary Public,
Marion County, Ohio.